The U.S. women's national soccer team caught the eye of the nation over the weekend with their storybook finish against Brazil. But they haven't won anything yet: The PK win over the Brazilians — and the referee — only earned them a berth in today's semifinals against France. The Americans are favorites, but living up to their own hype won't be a simple task. {page 21}

Woman killed in standoff

BRONX. A woman was killed by her boyfriend yesterday, police said, during a standoff with police where he stabbed her on a balcony. Neighbors said the couple was fighting when the man began attacking her. An NYPD spokesman said an officer fired at the man, trying to get him to stop stabbing the woman. The suspect barricaded himself in his apartment while two police officers tried to help the badly injured woman, who died at a nearby hospital. ● METRO/AB

Clerk says 'no' to gay marriage

ALBANY. An upstate town clerk resigned yesterday in protest over legal gay marriage, becoming the first public official in the state to quit over the new law. Laura Fortusky, a town clerk near Albany, said she resigned because she did not want to give marriage licenses to gay couples. "When you enforce the laws of the state, you don't get to pick and choose which laws," said Gov. Andrew Cuomo. ● METRO/AB

Police: We've got the subway perv

► Police say man sexually assaulted women all over the city ► Allegedly used crowded subway cars where women couldn't move ► Manhattan DA indicted his semen over the years, and then used it to match to the suspect

An alleged subway pervert who cops say masturbated on women for nearly a decade was indicted yesterday.

Prosecutors at the Manhattan district attorney's office said Darnell Hardware, 26, used crowded rush-hour subway trains to rub himself up against young women traveling to work and school. He would ejaculate on the women and then flee when the subway doors opened, according to officials.

Police hunted him for nine years, but had only his DNA, recovered from his semen he left on women, prosecutors said. So they charged his DNA with sexual assault, labeling the case "John Doe," hoping to match it eventually.

Prosecutors say they got their chance in June, when, convicted of selling

"It's almost impossible to find a woman in New York City who has not been the victim of some sort of sexual harassment on the subway."

DISTRICT ATTORNEY CYRUS VANCE

drugs, Hardware was required to submit his DNA, which matched that from the older attacks.

Manhattan prosecutors say Hardware attacked women, ages 17, 22 and 24, three times between 2002 and 2005. He was most recently arrested for public lewdness on June 21, according to an NYPD spokesman, when he was caught masturbating in front of a woman at the 2 train subway stop at Third Avenue and 149th Street in the Bronx.

But that was only the latest in a string of arrests, the NYPD spokesman said. Hardware has been arrested about 25 times, according to the NYPD, often for sex-related or drug charges. If convicted, he faces up to nine years in prison.

The indictment prompted Councilman Peter Vallone to reiterate his demand that the MTA post photos on trains of wanted and convicted subway sex offenders in a type of underground "Wall of Shame."

"This animal is an example of what happens on our subways," Vallone said.

One of the nation's most celebrated presidential historians — who is seen on his website hanging out with the likes of Alec Baldwin and Michael Bolton — was arrested Saturday and charged with stealing more than $1 million worth of U.S. artifacts.

Barry Landau, who is based here in New York City, was caught trying to sneak valuable documents out of the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore, local police told Metro.

Landau, 63, was arrested with his assistant, Jason Savedoff, 24. A Historical Society employee called police after seeing the two acting suspiciously, according to Baltimore police.

They allegedly pilfered documents included a paper signed by president Lincoln with a value of $300,000.

According to police, Savedoff was collared in the bathroom of the Historical Society, where they found two keys in his right blazer pocket. The keys were to a nearby locker, where a black laptop case had "numerous historical documents" belonging to the Historical Society.

Traveling Solo and Loving it at Club Getaway

Growing up, summer was my time to break free and take risks. As an adult, my summers have been fun but all too familiar. Where had all the summer magic gone?

Determined to regain my summer mojo, I took the leap and tried my first vacation alone. I booked a weekend at the most magical summer place I could think of — camp! Just ninety minutes away from the city, I found Club Getaway, a "camp for grown-ups," where I could try new sports and activities and meet new people.

Camp was even better than I remembered. The place was gorgeous! There was a sparkling lake and pretty, rustic cabins along the rolling green landscape, surrounded by the beautiful Berkshire Mountains. When I arrived the first night, I joined my new roommates for a cocktail party followed by a delicious dinner. Later we went to the Boathouse club for drinking and dancing. I couldn't believe how friendly the crowd was.

"Hiking, biking, kayaking, zipline, waterskiing, tennis, golf, scuba, wine tasting... what am I to do?"

Club Getaway, a weekend sports and adventure resort, is located in the Berkshire Mountains of Kent, CT, just 90 minutes from NYC by car or Getaway Bus.

The next day there were so many activities it seemed impossible to choose. Hiking, biking, kayaking, zipline, waterskiing, tennis, golf, scuba, massage, volleyball, wine tasting, rock climbing, cooking or the trapeze — what am I to do?

I went with all new activities. With the help of some skilled instructors, I learned how to mountain bike, kayak and water ski all in one day. At sunset by the lake, all 300 campers were hanging out, listening to the live music, enjoying barbecue, and sharing the days adventures. As I joined in the volleyball game, I realized that I never would have met all these great people if I hadn't tried going on vacation "alone!"

My last day, I returned to familiar favorites — yoga, sailing and tennis with my amazing new friends. At Club Getaway, I may have traveled solo but I was never alone. By the time we rode home, we were already planning a night out in the city along with our next Getaway vacation!

CLUB GETAWAY FACTS

- Getaway Weekends include all meals, wine with dinner, all sports and activities, all nightly entertainment and lodging.
- Club Getaway is located in Kent, CT, 90 minutes from NYC by car or Getaway bus.
- July and Aug Weekends still available.
- Family Getaways also available in late August.

Bloomberg plugs in, but is city tuning out?

Planning ahead

Jerry Reich, CEO of Green Power Technology, said he expects the electric-car market to explode in the coming years.

"In the long term, New York is going to be a large market," said Reich, who cited a study by McKinsey & Co. that predicted that New Yorkers would buy 70,000 hybrid vehicles by 2015.

Number of hybrid cars in city's fleet, including 50 new "extended range" Chevrolet Volts

► Mayor adds 70 electric vehicles to city's fleet ► New Yorkers not exactly enthusiastic ► Few using stations

Mayor Michael Bloomberg announced the addition of 70 new hybrid cars to the city's fleet yesterday, but New Yorkers have yet to buy into the hybrid hype.

As part of his PlaNYC initiative, the mayor plans to install 100 hybrid charging stations across the five boroughs. As of today there are 35 — and they're all collecting dust.

Nana Ansah, the manager of an Edison FastPark in Greenwich Village, has had an electric charging station in his garage for about a year.

So far, out of the 130 cars that come and go dai-

"We get so excited when one comes in," said Ansah. "We never get to use the charger!"

for four months and we've only had four people use it," echoed Siro Villalano, 44, a manager of a FastPark in TriBeCa. "No one knows how to use the charger. There are not too many electric cars in New York."

The most attention the electric charger gets at Garage Management Co. in the West Village is by the confused.

"Most people ask, 'What is this?'" said manager Rico Paillant. "No one's ever seen it before. They don't know what it is."

Divorcing? Break out the cake!

► Forget summer weddings: Divorce shindigs are the latest craze ► Exes throw parties to celebrate breakup ► Shrink: It's a healing technique

What's the best way to get along with your ex after a split? Throw a party together, of course!

Some New York divorce specialists recommend throwing a "divorce party" after the court papers are finalized, saying it helps create closure and courage for people after a split.

Last month, White Stripes singer Jack White threw a party in Nashville after he and ex-wife supermodel Karen Elson ended their marriage. "We remain dear and trusted friends," the couple said in a statement. "In honor of that time shared, we are throwing a divorce party."

About 20 percent of sales at Divorcepartysupply.com are in the New York City region, according to the company.

Family therapist Dr. Bonnie Eaker Weil said divorce parties end the "shame and blame" surrounding a breakup and keep social circles intact.

"Very often people feel guilty, like, 'If I'm friends with her, I can't be friends

Think of the kids

Dr. Weil says divorce parties keep things amicable — especially for children.

"You should invite the children," she suggested. "They're torn and they don't know what they're supposed to be doing."

with him," she said. "It eliminates a lot of guilt for everyone."

Manhattan-based matrimonial lawyer Sherri Donovan told Metro about 20 percent of the people she helps get divorced throw a party.

"It's like a cleansing," she said. "Out with the old life, in with the new life."

She did see one couple, however, that headed out together after the court papers were signed. "They left together very lovey dovey, arm in arm," she said. "I think they were going to have one last fling."

Have your split and eat it, too

NEW YORK. Sylvia Weinstock said her Lower Manhattan cake shop usually bakes for happier occasions, like birthdays or weddings, but has made a few cakes for divorce parties, too. "I remember that we did one that had a big house, and we cut a small section with 'his,' and the biggest part was 'hers,'" she said. "Another one was a stack of thousand-dollar bills. There were two on the side for him, and the big stack on hers." ● METRO/AB

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

When Tony Blair was appointed Middle East envoy, it meant leading the Israeli-Palestinian peace process. That brief still applies, but now he must tend to democratic transformations and civil wars, too. The Quartet — consisting of the U.N., EU, U.S. and Russia — speaks on behalf of the international community.

Blair, the charismatic modernizer of Britain's Labour Party, was elected prime minister in 1997. But leading Britain through 10 years of wide-ranging reform was a cakewalk compared to Tony Blair's current job.

Which Middle Eastern country is your top priority right now? The Israel-Palestine peace process is still my main task, but I'll inevitably get involved in the situation in the Middle East as a whole. It's extraordinary, exhilarating, but of course it has also got real challenges. What's the main challenge? The big question in any revolution is not where it begins but where it ends. The question now is, will the forces of modernization use this push to democracy and take it to a place where it allows a functioning democracy to develop in their respective country, or will various elements, for example, Islamists, take the situation in a reactionary direction? The biggest risk in the current situation is that countries get destabilized through the revolution and don't take the right economic decisions to create jobs and prosperity for people. Then you end up with the revolution going in a reactionary direction.

The Arab Spring is a result of citizens' frustrations with their dictators, but the dictators were friends with the West. Was it a mistake for the West to be friendly with Middle Eastern dictators? [Former Egyptian President Hosni] Mubarak, for example, is very different from [Libyan leader Muammar] Gaddafi. But in the case of each leader, there's a rea-

On Iraq

Do you regret invading Iraq?

I thought it was better to get rid of [Saddam Hussein] because he was a threat. It's odd that people say, "You shouldn't be dealing with such-and-such dictator" and then criticize you when you get rid of one who was far worse than any of the Arab dictators we talked about earlier. ... When I look at Iraq now, for all the challenges it has, I don't think you'd get a majority of Iraqis saying they want Saddam back.

NICK CUNARD/METRO WORLD NEWS

son we were dealing with them. In the case of Mubarak, he was a force for stability in the Middle East. Thanks to the West's engagement, Gaddafi gave up his country's nuclear weapons program and stopped sponsoring international terrorism. Does that justify internal repression? No, but it poses us — the West — with a problem, since we're dealing with the respective leader from the outside. The reality of politics is that you can't simply say, "The only countries we're going to deal with are the countries that emulate our political system." So, you're always in a situation where you're making difficult compromises.

On the other hand, Gaddafi and Mubarak kept their countries stable, as have Hugo Chavez and the Castro brothers. Is stability sometimes better than democracy?

The most important thing now is to recognize the fact that the countries that are dictatorial are often not going to remain stable. One of the things we've learned from the Arab Spring is that even though an authoritarian country looks stable and sustainable, it's going to collapse.

Generally speaking, you can engage and work with an authoritarian ruler while at the same time urging them to make changes. This was a constant refrain I had with the Gaddafi regime. I told them, "You've got to change. You've changed your external policy; change your internal policy, too." In the end, they didn't want to.

The sanctions against Iran haven't had much impact. Is it time to engage with Iran?

The sanctions do have an effect. And it's not that people haven't tried to engage with the Iranian leaders to get them to stop doing what they're doing. The objection to what Iran is doing is very simple: It's trying to develop nuclear weapons, which would be very dangerous and destabilize the whole region.

What's the solution?

To keep pushing. If you withdraw sanctions, they'll think they can do whatever they want.

Doesn't Iran have a point when it says it's being unfairly targeted, considering that Israel is not being punished for its nuclear program?

Iran knows what the difference is. Iran developing nuclear weapons would completely change the balance in the region. If Iran got nuclear weapons, its neighbors would try to do the same.

Karina Smirnoff dishes on dream dance partner

► Wonder if she's stepping up to Jesse and the Rippers?

"Dancing with the Stars" is currently seeking out celebrity contestants for the 13th(!) season of the hit show (Dina Lohan, Mike Tyson, Shaquille O'Neal, "Bachelorette" Ashley Hebert, Melissa Gilbert, Regis Philbin, and Khloe Kardashian are among some of the names being batted around) but Karina Smirnoff has someone else in mind: Uncle Jesse.

"Definitely John Stamos. I think he's got the looks. He's got the experience of being onstage, doing Broadway," Smirnoff told Hollyscoop of her dream partner. She also dishes on her friendship with previous partner Ralph Macchio: "I think Ralph was God's gift to me at the show. We got to the semifinals and we haven't had one argument."

Stamos

We're still really good friends, talk every day," she dishes.

Forget Lohan — what "DWTS" should do is have a "Full House" dance-off! You know you've always wondered what Kimmy is up to; plus Jodie Sweeten is practically a pro having been the host of the esteemed "Pants-Off Dance-Off." Heck, I'd tune in just to see if the Olsen twins (all five feet of them) would have to be paired up with a midget partner. A midget who can dance like the wind!

Jones' little mad man?

If January Jones' shopping habits are any indication, she's having a girl. The very pregnant "Man Men" star visited L.A. children's boutique Poppy recently, where she bought some decidedly girlish baby clothes, according to Hollyscoop. Of course, shopping tendencies don't count for everything, as Jones was spotted last month checking out blue baby clothes at a Los Angeles Target, prompting many to speculate she is having a boy.

Kunis needs a reality check

Mila Kunis doesn't speak very highly of herself when it comes to her comic chops, despite making a name for herself on "That 70s Show." "It's hard to be funny in general. I think I have a good sense of humor, but I'm not, like, a joke-teller," she tells GQ. "Believe me, I have no idea why anyone hires me." The "Friends with Benefits" star also admits that she's

Halle Berry is safe

Halle Berry can rest easy now that Richard Franco, the 27-year-old man who allegedly stalked her home repeatedly over the weekend, was arrested for felony stalking late Monday night, according to TMZ. Law enforcement officials say Franco jumped over the back wall of the Oscar-winning actress's home only to be nabbed by her private security, who alerted the police. Berry spotted Franco in her backyard multiple times over the weekend. TMZ.com reports that Franco has a long rap sheet — he just served time last month for battery. He's been busted for felony car theft, felony vandalism, several drug use offenses and several juvenile offenses.

currently single, thanks in large part to her work schedule. "I wouldn't dare wish myself upon anybody at this point in my life! My shooting schedule is crazy," she says.

It's a boy for Jewel

Jewel and her husband, Ty Murray, welcomed a baby boy, Kase Townes Murray, on Monday, the singer confirms to People magazine. "Ty and I are so pleased to welcome our new baby boy into the world," Jewel tells the magazine. "We are overcome with happiness."

What's next for Potter stars?

► Tom Felton appears in "Rise of the Planet of the Apes" this August.

Tom Felton (Draco Malfoy)

He can die saying he starred in "Harry Potter" and was Emma Watson's first on-set crush; what more does Felton need to do? His choice: Getting attacked by primates in "Ride of the Planet of the Apes," out this August. Chances of success: Two out of five wands

► 'The Deathly Hallows Part 2' marks the end of the movies, but not the cast's careers — right? ► Here are a few ideas as to what they'll do next

Emma Watson (Hermione Granger)

Already a fashion magazine staple, Watson has left the genre ghetto for trendy indies. She's just finished filming "The Perks of Being a Wallflower," a comedy co-starring Paul Rudd, and will star opposite Michelle Williams in "My Week with Marilyn," about Marilyn Monroe. Sadly, she won't have a college degree to fall back on just yet — Watson left Brown University last fall before graduating but will return in the fall. Chances of success: Five out of five wands

Rupert Grint (Ron Weasley)

Is he ambitious, or just a stoner? Either way, "Ron" will continue to do what he did in between "Potter"s: make likeable movies that no one will see, including the war drama "Comrade" and "Eddie the Eagle," about the U.K.'s first Olympic ski jumper.

Chances of success: Three out of five wands

Alan Rickman (Professor Snape)

He's always chasing Harry Potter — now all the way to Broadway. Rickman will star in "The Seminar," a new play, this fall.

Chances of success: How dare you ask? After "Die Hard," "Potter" and countless plays, the man's a legend. Plus, we're too scared to say otherwise.

METRO WORLD NEWS IN LONDON

Daniel Radcliffe (Harry Potter)

Currently singing and dancing in the Broadway musical "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," the 21-year-old earned rave reviews, even if the production itself didn't. People want to like him and he wants to be liked. That said, "The Woman in Black," a moody ghost story due next year, doesn't look like a blockbuster. Chances of future success: Four out of five wands

Goodbye Mr. Potter

► Daniel Radcliffe portrays Harry Potter for the last time in "Deathly Hallows: Part 2."

As Boyz II Men once sang, "It's So Hard to Say Goodbye to Yesterday." That will certainly be true for the Potterheads of today, who are about to savor their final look into the world of Hogwarts and Gringotts Wizarding Bank, of Deathly Hallows and the Ministry of Magic. They won't be disappointed by what they find there. While this adaptation, like the others before it, has to sacrifice some chunks of the story in order to keep the movie at a reasonable length — and this is one of the series' shortest, clocking in at about two hours — the essential arcs of the plot survive.

This film, like "Deathly Hallows: Part 1," is much darker than the first films in both content and style. The cinematography reflects the mood of the plot using dulled tones and washed out colors. But the playful elements that drew us into the first books still make an appearance here and there, with a dizzying chase in Gringotts' vault and Bellatrix Lestrange's multiplying treasures keeping the grim atmosphere of the story in check.

► The final 'Harry Potter' film brings the series to its logical conclusion ► With a great sense of closure, 'Deathly Hallows: Part 2' lovingly sends off Harry, Hermione and Ron

Those who haven't read the books or seen the previous movies had best brush up ahead of time, however. Major characters show up and disappear with little explanation given. But that doesn't seem like the wrong choice, as such exposition would ruin the momentum. For the average Potterhead, this lack of context is no problem, but less-rabid fans might find themselves a little lost without some preparation ahead of time.

All in all, director David Yates, the man who took on four of the eight films, shows a steady hand with the most precious material of the series. It's an emotional experience — both terrifying, with Ralph Fiennes' disturbing as ever as Lord Voldemort, and heartwarming, given the genuine sadness of the three lead characters as they say goodbye to Hogwarts.

Another bite for James Blake

► Tickets are still available to see James Blake at Webster Hall tonight. Visit www.websterhall.com for more info.

► He took dubstep's booming bass, melded it with minimalistic songwriting and it resonated with crowds ► Why he keeps coming back to the Big Apple

James Blake loves New York. No, really. Beyond the cliché, the singer-songwriter says, "It's very quickly becoming my favorite place." It makes sense, then, that he's performing here again after playing NYC just two months ago.

You're playing so many different festivals this summer. And I first saw you at the SXSW festival in Texas. Do you ever get to check out any of the other acts?

There are some people I'm really excited to see. I was fascinated by Odd Future at SXSW. To me, it looked like that festival kind of broke them. They did really well to show people what they can do. I saw

How different is what you're working on now?

I think it's getting more outward. I've come quite a long way, personally and musically in the last year. I've had a lot of new experiences, been to a lot of new places, met a lot of new people and listened to a lot of new music. That's what touring does. I think my music has kind of developed. I think it's better? I don't know.

them twice. The second time it took me a while to get in. It was like ridiculous hype, to the point that I don't think I've ever seen before.

Some may argue that the hype surrounding you comes close.

I just think it's a different kind of hype. It's gone at different speeds and I think they're burning at a different temperature.

It has been interesting to watch the online thermometer, so to speak.

There was the hype and then there was the backlash ...

I loved the backlash. It was really cool.

Oh yeah? Why?

Because once the backlash happened, there was a backlash against the backlash, and it was really interesting to see. To be honest though, I'm not really part of it. I think that's what I've liked about it.

Are you saying you don't have a Google Alert with your name?

[Laughs] I don't think anyone can say they've never done that.

When I saw you play live I was blown away by how deep your bass sound is. When did you first realize its power?

In London, in several clubs that I went to that were just playing dubstep. ... It harnessed that sort of sub-bass pressure and just made it a bit more snappy, I think.

Just like Niles, except a psycho

► David Hyde Pierce stars in 'The Perfect Host' as a fastidious party-thrower — who holds a guest hostage

As Warwick, the fastidious party-thrower in the thriller "The Perfect Host," David Hyde Pierce gets to go a bit nuts, entertaining a house full of imaginary guests while a horrified hostage (Clayne Crawford) looks on. Niles from "Frasier," what happened to you?

What sort of host are you?

Crappy. Crappy, yes. I don't have fancy parties like Warwick does — although my guests are more dependable at my parties. I just do what I can.

How was it doing most of the party scenes twice, once with guests and once without?

A lot of times in moviemaking, you find yourself speaking to people who aren't there for whatever reason — either the actor isn't there because they couldn't be there or you're talking to an imaginary thing that's going to be put in during post. So that kind of psychological thing where you have to be speaking to someone and reacting to them even though they're not there, it's not that big a leap, really. It's just sort of being able to use your imagination.

Are you yourself a fan of thrillers?

I don't know if I'd say fan. When I was little I used to love what I would call classic horror movies — the Boris Karloff Frankensteins and the Bela Legosi and Christopher Lee Draculas, things like that. You wouldn't really call them thrillers, but there's something about the aesthetic of those movies that I thought "The Perfect Host" had — dark tone and color and almost a gothic kind of patina on it.

And you're currently at work directing for the first time.

It's a new musical called "It Should've Been You," and it's completely brand new — original story and original music — although we may say, "based on the movie" just so people come.

Throw it up and strut!

► From the spring runways to the sidewalks ► Forget the ponytail — a topknot is your new summer 'do

Let us count the ways we love the topknot: It takes 2.5 seconds to create. The style works with just about any outfit, from maxi skirts to cutoff shorts. And (our favorite), the 'do works better with dirty summer hair.

But there's a fine line between a fashion-forward topknot and gym hair. According to Tony Kelley, senior stylist at Cutler Salons, it's all about making the style look deliberate. "It has to look like there was some intent behind it — the knot has to be really twisted in a way that's beautiful or something that it doesn't look like a ponytail that's folded over," he says.

Here's how he does it up:

From the
Rebecca Taylor
spring show

TINA CHADHA
tina.chadha@metro.us

Kelley's instructions:

- 1 Gather your hair as if you're making a high ponytail.
- 2 Brush the hair from back of your head up so it's tight and there are no bumps. But leave the front soft so there's natural texture on top.

The top shouldn't look too slick.

- 3-4 Start twisting your hair and loop it into a knot. While twisting, you can add mousse to smooth it out.
- 5 Secure the knot by adding French pins throughout the twist.
- 6 Once you have the basic shape, adjust the top and pull out bits in the front.

All about texture

Dirty hair? No time to blow dry? No problem: "With a few tweaks it can be a great look that works really well with natural texture. You don't have to blow out your hair. The more texture you have in your hair, the more grease or product is in there, [the better] to just throw it up," Kelley tells us.

Top tips

1. The higher the knot is on the head the more fashion it will feel.
2. Leave natural texture up on top so it's not too slick-looking.
3. Anytime you can hide the way it's secured (such as with pins rather than a chunky clip), it will have a more done feeling.

An intestinal investigation: Metro probes into probiotics

► Eating yogurt is a good way to up your body's probiotics count.

- It seems they're popping up in products everywhere
- Should you be incorporating them into your diet?

Probiotics seem to be the nutritional buzzword du jour. These "friendly bacteria" are being added to everyday items like fruit drinks and pizza crust with claims of boosting the naturally occurring essential flora that inhabit the intestinal tract.

"Probiotic literally means 'for life,'" says registered dietitian Linda Antinoro, who is the senior nutritionist at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital. There's good reason to be concerned about whether we have enough friendly bacteria. "They are under attack from bacterial and viral infection, and use of antibiotics," she says, "and people with a lousy diet may need to take a probiotic to restore them."

Health claims for probiotics include boosting the immune system, preventing illnesses like Candida and intestinal cancer and even aiding in weight loss. "The only proven thing is the action on gastric disorders such as diarrhea and bloating," says Antinoro. "It might well help the immune system, it might benefit disorders such as Crohn's and colitis, or prevent cancer. Probiotics for weight management seems tenuous, though."

Diet tips

Products with probiotics

Boosting intestinal flora is best achieved by a healthy diet. We checked out some probiotic sources to see if they made the grade.

Yogurt and kefir: Packed with live cultures, "they are ideal and add calcium and vitamin D, too," says Antinoro.

Probiotic pizza dough from Naked Pizza: "It might be healthier, but there's no real way of knowing how much you're getting," she says.

PRE Probiotic Enhancer fruit drinks: Some contain sugar, which isn't good for gut health. "Sugar may be counterproductive, but if that's the only way to get people to take in probiotics then it serves a purpose," says Antinoro. Probiotic pills and powders: "There are possible benefits, but the potency is not regulated so you're never quite sure what's in there," she says.

How to deal when your boss steals your ideas

▶ 'You must strike a balance of honesty, diplomacy and directness,' therapist says ▶ Exactly how to do it

No more drama

JONATHAN ALPERT

WWW.JONATHANALPERT.COM

This is a tough situation: You're trying simultaneously to protect your hard work, maintain your job and not upset your boss. You must strike a balance of honesty,

The question

I've been at my job for two years and receive positive reviews and get along with my colleagues. I enjoy my job and plan to continue my career at this company. I've noticed lately that my boss keeps taking credit for my ideas. I'll suggest something and then he'll make it seem like his idea. This doesn't seem fair. What should I do?

diplomacy and directness. Do know that in taking your ideas, your boss is actually complimenting you — he's just going about it entirely wrong.

Here's what you can do: Ask your boss for a review, clarify duties, responsibilities and expectations and express your strong dedication and commitment to the job. In a non-accusatory way, tell him or her that you feel you don't always get full credit or recognition for your efforts and that it's really important that you do because you value hard work. Approach the situation gently by taking the stance that there may be a miscommunication: "I'm sure it wasn't intentional but I noticed my name was left off the reports." This approach will send the message that you're aware of what's going on and hopefully it will lead to change.

Protect yourself by keeping e-mails and maintaining a paper trail, and copy your boss on e-mails that show progress you're making. Think like a leader: Interact with senior level colleagues, conveying your cutting-edge ideas and expertise so they're aware of your capabilities and skills. This serves two purposes: One, it helps promote the perception that you're an important player in the company. Two, it sets you up for advancement within, should things not work out with your current boss.

Ultimately, if things don't change, then bring human resources into the situation. Remember to be calm and respectful because getting credit isn't worth much if it's done at the expense of losing your job.

Study subjects: 12,267 adults
Location of study: U.S.
Results: The 15-year study revealed subjects with "the highest sodium and lowest potassium had twice the risk of death from heart disease and a 50 percent increased risk of death from any cause," says WebMD.
Significance: The study added more data to the theory that high salt intake and low potassium levels can lead to hypertension and increased risk of heart disease.

Results: New research linked smoking in pregnancy to babies suffering birth defects "such as clubfoot, missing limbs and deformed limbs," reports The Guardian newspaper. Smoking mothers "increase the risk of their child being born with a serious malformation by as much as 50 percent."
Significance: The article states "45 percent of women under 20 [smoke during pregnancy]"

while one in seven is still a smoker when she gives birth."

Study subjects: 173 one-dog families
Location of study: U.S.
Results: A study found the "quantities of dog allergens in homes with supposedly hypoallergenic breeds are no different from those in homes with dogs widely considered non-hypoallergenic," says The New York Times.

Significance: The Times said that "It is possible that some breeds shed less dander — bits of hair and skin — than others. But according to this study, that may make little difference to allergy sufferers."

Eating

Study subjects: 17,000 people with an eating disorder
Location of study: U.K.
Results: The Daily Mail reports that "Anorexia sufferers are five times more likely to die than other Americans" and "Those who have bulimia or other eating disorders also face an increased risk of death, twice that of non-sufferers."
Significance: Though data wasn't absolute, the study attributed most of the deaths "to the devastating effects of the disease on their bodies over time."

Debt debate, the second day

RE: "THE RICH GET IT BOTH WAYS!": The costs of our federal debt are staggering. The interest payments tax productive work to reward idle ownership, exacerbating the disparity between haves and have-nots. Government borrowing crowds out private investment. Raise taxes. Cut Medicare. Cut the military. Cut Medicaid. Cut Social Security. Raise taxes on both the rich and the middle class. And don't stop when we get a surplus: Keep going until the debt is paid down.

DAN WYLIE-SEARS, VIA E-MAIL

Taxes do not need to be raised if we can make necessary cuts in our government spending. The only way to do that is to change what we think the role of government should be. If you want a "nanny do-gooder" state to take care of you your entire life then we will have perpetual debt crises until the system collapses. For most of human history people have had to work their entire lives and only recently have many more people been able to retire early. There is no job on earth that guarantees retirement.

KELLY DONNOE, LYNBROOK

It appears there is strong support for letting the Bush tax cuts expire for people making over $250,000, but shockingly little support for letting them expire for people making less than that amount, despite the fact that 80 percent of the benefit of the cuts went to people making less than $250,000. Perhaps this is because our wise president is only going after the 20 percent — people who didn't vote for him.

WALTER BRANSON, VIA E-MAIL

After working hard to pay Medicare and Social Security for our retirement, Congress wants to cut our benefits. Why don't they eliminate the pension for all lawmakers — state and federal. They will live worry-free, with us always struggling.

HENRI BAPTISTE, VIA E-MAIL

Reaping what we've sown

Who is surprised by droughts in 14 states? The oligarchy surely planned this for us all. Forcing us to use fossil fuels while suppressing free energy, cold fusion, nonfunding of Bussard's Fusor, and water car technology that would have prevented global warming; and Big Agriculture, creating miles of open fields with no wind erosion protection. Denude the Earth and you get drought, any eighth grader knows that.

CHARLES COUCH, BED-STUY

Horoscope

Cancer June 21-July 22. Treat everyone you're around as someone special and it'll add a luster to your personality you couldn't manufacture. Make popularity your goal.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Lady Luck always tags onto tenacity of purpose, so unless you don't want her in your life, do whatever you can to make what you want happen.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Good things happen when we get out and do what we can to socialize with others. You might even be able to make a special new friend.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Some kind of better shift in conditions is developing for you, of which you might not initially be aware. As time passes, however, it will become abundantly clear to you.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. There are strong indications that something you're trying to do cannot be accomplished alone. If you're having trouble tackling an important project, keep this in mind and get a partner.

Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. By thinking in positive terms or using constructive measures to fulfill a material hope or expectation, a sizeable profit can be realized. Don't let yourself get dragged down.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. You should try to make things happen instead of waiting for them to occur. Enterprises you originate and personally control have strong possibilities of becoming realities.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Even if you are a trifle bit slow in rewinding some steam to get yourself going, once you get started, there will be no holding you back.

Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. There is likely to be some strong justification for you feeling a bit fortunate. Dame Fortune won't do the job for you, but she will help you to get on a roll and pull things off.

Aries March 21-April 19. If you're designing something you hope could generate a profit, once your plans are solidified, don't sit on them. Delay won't help; only action will make things happen.

Taurus April 20-May 20. Get out and mingle if you can, because you could run into someone who belongs to a group you're longed to join. When you start interacting, others will interact with you.

Gemini May 21-June 20. Instead of trying to make things happen, let life take its own course of events. Lady Luck is likely to do a far better job for you than you can yourself.

Matchups

US defense vs. Louisa Necib

Breakdown: The bad news is Rachel Buehler is out, but veteran Christie Rampone (234 caps) will be key in stopping the dynamic Necib.

Advantage: France. The loss of Buehler isn't devastating, but you never want to stick in an unproven player in the semifinal of a World Cup.

Abby Wambach vs. French defense

Breakdown: Wambach is the most athletic and physical scorer in the world. When she gets a good service into the box she is impossible to stop. No one on France's back line can mark her in the air.

Advantage: U.S. Wambach will definitely be counted on for the U.S. She was in a long goal-scoring slump coming into the World Cup, but she appears to have finally broken that streak.

Hope Solo vs. Berangere Sapowicz

Breakdown: Technically the two keepers won't be facing off, but a lot of pressure falls on each. Just one careless outlet pass and you can cost your team a chance to play for the World Cup.

Who wins: U.S. This was kind of a given.

Worn down vs. rested

Breakdown: The U.S. women are playing on one fewer day of rest than France ... and they just played 120 minutes plus penalty kicks. The one plus is that the U.S. is the fittest side in the women's game.

Advantage: France, but not as much as they may think.

Expectations rising for US

► Americans playing against more than France in today's Women's World Cup semis ► After a transcendent win, living up to the hype won't be easy

With one stunning cross and one textbook header, the Robbery in Dresden turned into the Miracle on Grass.

Cliche after cliche has been heaped on the Americans' Women's World Cup quarterfinal against Brazil — all deserved. The PK triumph touched every chord: hero over villain, fairness over corruption, team over individual. And it turned a little-known tournament and team into the talk of the country in a matter of days.

But now, Hope Solo, Abby Wambach and Megan Rapinoe face an even greater foe than the Brazilians and their referee ally: living up to the hype.

The Americans must beat France today to make sure their victory doesn't

► The U.S. women have the country behind them. But to make their quarterfinal miracle mean anything, they're going to have to bring home the World Cup.

The Scoop: The winner of today's other Women's World Cup semifinal will play either the U.S. or France in Sunday's final.

The Pick: Sweden upset the U.S. in group play. They'll win this one, too.

They're going to expect something special from the Americans' seeming team of destiny.

That means a victory today — and another in the final. It's all or nothing now for the U.S. Do they have it in them? METRO

1 America's newest breakout star

That clicking sound you hear is hundreds of thousands of American males (and some women) furiously typing the name Hope Solo into Google Image search.

Solo, the U.S. goalkeeper, is the breakout star of the 2011 Women's World Cup — she's talented, passionate and, yes, beautiful. She'll be making a lot in endorsements coming out of the tournament.

But first she has to shut down French forward Louisa Necib. Solo is the best keeper in the world and she proved it against Brazil, stopping Daiane in the shootout to give U.S. the win.

2 We haven't won in 12 years

This may come as a surprise to people who think the U.S. dominates all women's sports.

I'm sure you all remember Brandi Chastain ripping off her shirt in 1999 as the U.S. won the World Cup. That was the last time they won.

Germany dominated the last two Cups. A new crop of players, like Solo and Abby Wambach, have replaced Chastain and Mia Hamm and none have won on the sport's biggest stage.

Wambach has already said she would be crushed if the U.S. doesn't win the title in what could be her final chance.

3 USA! USA! USA!

We all know the biggest reason to watch (yes, besides Hope Solo) is because this is the United States of America.

They are France. Do I have to explain it any more clearly than that?

We take our American pride very seriously and it doesn't matter if it's hockey, skiing or soccer. We need to represent.

I know what you're saying — soccer is boring and they all drop to the ground like they've been shot. You, my friend, are letting the French win.

Buehler out on red card

U.S. defender Rachel Buehler is suspended for the game against France due to a straight red card earned for taking down Marta in the box. Coach Pia Sundhage hasn't named a replacement, but reports are it will be rookie Becky Sauerbrunn, who has yet to play a single minute in the World Cup.

MARKETING THE LPGA ... WITHOUT SEX

SPORTS@METRO.US

The PGA Tour has a glaring problem that it can do nothing about — Tiger Woods. He's struggling on the course since his marriage crumbled, and he's battled injuries, too.

What about women's golf? Michelle Wie was supposed to be a star, and she's come close recently, but has yet to notch a signature win. You've likely never heard of the sport's top golfers, and the females you do hear about have one thing in common — they're attractive (see the ESPN "Body" issue).

A columnist recently asked: Should the LPGA use sex to sell women's golf? Can the sport thrive if its most marketable players never really win anything, but look terrific in a bikini calendar or in commercials?

I think the sport will be fine — if it can find a dominant player like the UConn women's basketball team has. Yani Tseng is the best women's golfer — you probably couldn't identify her — but if she goes on a tear and starts collecting majors like Tiger used to, her success will make up for the lack of attractive golfers at the top.

Everyone loves — or hates — a dynasty, right?

Jeter plays hookie

The most manufactured story of MLB All-Star week was Derek Jeter's absence. Remember what the All-Star story was a month ago? It went something like this:

"Derek Jeter's having a terrible season and he's going to start in the All-Star game? What a travesty!"
Now, days

Quoted

"Did casual fans not watch the game because Derek Jeter wasn't in it? Of course not."

after Jeter notched his 3,000th hit, the media tried to create a story by saying it's appalling Jeter decided to "rest" instead of compete in the All-Star game. Do fans care? No. Maybe Yankees fans. Did casual fans not watch the game because Derek Jeter wasn't in it? Of course not.

The real problem is there's zero sizzle this season. The Phillies are the best team, but they're not on pace to set a league record for wins. Jose Reyes is your NL MVP, but he's hurt; Adrian Gonzalez is your AL MVP, but it's not like he's setting any records. Only a handful of MLB players are active in social media, unlike NFL and NBA players, who are prolific and controversial (witness Ray Rice's comments about one of his rivals, Hines Ward, being arrested for DUI over the weekend).

Where's Anna Benson when you need her?

Lawyer: Woods never treated with PEDs

► Attorney for guilty doc says his client never treated golfer with HGH ► Woods has always denied claim

Dr. Anthony Galea pleaded guilty to bringing unapproved drugs — including human growth hormone — into the United States, but his most famous client wasn't treated with them, an attorney associated with Galea said yesterday.

The New York Daily News reported that Galea's assistant's lawyer, Rod Personius e-mailed them to say PGA golfer Tiger Woods "did not receive either banned or performance-enhancing drugs when treating with Dr. Galea."

Galea is a controversial Canadian doctor who has provided treatment to multiple high-profile athletes, including Jose Reyes, Alex Rodriguez and Woods. While Galea himself supports the use of HGH he says he has never used it on any of the athletes he treats.

► Tiger Woods has always steadfastly denied using performance-enhancing drugs in his career.

Woods specifically has always denied he used any banned substances in his golf career.

Woods will miss the British Open, which begins tomorrow at Royal St. George's, as he continues to rehabilitate from knee and ankle injuries. ● METRO

MLB Notes

Wang returns

► Former Yankees pitcher Chien-Ming Wang is expected to return to the Nationals rotation next week. Wang was signed by Washington prior to 2010, but has battled the shoulder injury that ended his Yankees career. Wang won 38 games for the Yankees from 2006-07. He hasn't pitched in a major league game since July 4, 2009 for the Yankees.

Chien-Ming Wang

Rivera traded

► Juan Rivera, also a former Yankee, was traded to the Dodgers from Toronto yesterday for a player to be named later. He was batting .243 with six homers. Marcus Thames

(yes, a former Yankee) was designated for assignment. METRO

PARKCHESTER'S ONE AND TWO BEDROOM RENTAL APARTMENTS COMBINE GREAT VALUE AND A FULFILLING LIFESTYLE

Savvy New Yorkers have discovered that Parkchester is the smart alternative to High Manhattan Rents. People from all walks of life and people of all ages who want to live in spacious, bright rental apartments with all of today's amenities are moving to Parkchester which many are calling "the best rental value in New York City."

Traditional one bedroom apartments in Parkchester rent for as low as $950 per month and two bedroom apartments start at $1300 per month. All of these rental apartments in Parkchester have a window in every bathroom and a window in every kitchen. Kitchens are modern and fully equipped and bathrooms have a full tub and shower.

Every apartment has generous closets, hardwood floors and large foyers. There is new heavy duty wiring to support air conditioning and all appliances. Fios and high speed internet connections are available. In addition to the traditional and one and two bedroom apartments Parkchester also offers Premier apartments with rentals starting at $1300 per month.

Parkchester's residents include artists, students, teachers, and retirees, shopkeepers and social workers, policemen, firefighters, physicians, nurses and other professionals, a broad and exciting mix of people.

But, affordable rents and civilized spaces are only part of the reason New Yorkers enjoy living in Parkchester. It is, in the truest sense of the word, a community where tenants have discovered a richer more fulfilling life. Parkchester's buildings are surrounded by lawns, trees, flower gardens and fountains. In addition, Parkchester has its own commercial village with many supermarkets, specialty shops, restaurants and national brand stores including Macy's and Starbucks. Parkchester had its own Post Office, a first run multi-screen movie theatre, and many medical and dental offices. Parkchester has its own subway station on the MTA #6 line from which one can reach Grand Central Station in just 30 minutes. There is also a regular schedule of fast frequent express buses to midtown 7 days a week. Residents can park their cars on the street or in indoor garages. The Cross Bronx Expressway and major parkways are just minutes away.

Prospective tenants are invited to attend an Open House and to view model apartments. Currently apartments are available for immediate occupancy. Open Houses are held on Tuesday and Thursday from 5:00 pm to 7:45 pm and on Saturday from 9 am to 12:45 pm. To make an appointment and for directions to the open house call 718-412-4695 or email: rentals@ppmamc.com or view the Parkchester's website at: www.parkchesternyc.com

The info:

- ▶ Name: Lovett/Codagnone
- ▶ City: West Village, New York City
- ▶ Occupation: Contemporary artists
- ▶ The space: A multileveled loft in an old glove factory.

Before they moved in together more than 10 years ago, the New York-based contemporary art duo Lovett/Codagnone had completely different tastes. Alessandro Codagnone preferred a clean and sparse aesthetic, while John Lovett liked things crowded and busy.

Together, they've built a look they call "minimal, but eclectic."

The art

"Most of the art on the walls was either made by us or our friends. I love this little sculpture of the cowboy on a horse the best. John made it when he was a little boy."

Foreclosures surge in Manhattan co-ops, but decline in rest of city

Foreclosures on co-op apartments in New York City reached a two-year high during the second quarter, more than quadrupling in number since the second quarter of 2010, according to the latest data from PropertyShark.com.

The spike was fueled by a major uptick in scheduled foreclosure auctions in Manhattan, which had 66 in the second quarter, up from 27 at this time last year, and from 41 in the first quarter, the data shows. But the increasing distress that was apparent among Manhattan co-op owners wasn't replicated elsewhere in the city, with all other boroughs — which have traditionally been much harder-hit — seeing year-over-year declines in the number of auctions scheduled during the second quarter.

In Staten Island, scheduled foreclosures dropped by 84 percent. In Queens, the decline was 68 percent. In the Bronx and Brooklyn, the numbers were down by 52 percent and 34 percent, respectively.

ACNE

Eczema Psoriasis Rosacea Rashes

#60

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

■ I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried products with Benzoyl Peroxide, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC ■ In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser, Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX ■ Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL ■ Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON ■ I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC ■ All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60. TRUE EVIDENCE that we are helping people.

High Blood Pressure?

High blood pressure is called the silent killer. If your BP is higher than normal, try to get it down to about 120/80. For many people it is easy to control. If it does not work for you we refund your money. On our website you will find over 50 testimonials with full names and towns from all over USA and Canada. Most of them have listed phone numbers and are happy to talk about the relief they had. No money was paid for testimonials.

Dr. C. Hammoud M.H., Ph.D. recommends this effective fish peptide blood pressure natural product. So does Dr. Julian Whitaker M.D. ■ I was on 3 blood pressure drugs that did not work well. After starting Bell #26 my readings are generally well below 120/80. Dona A. Anderson, 76, Sooke, BC ■ My blood pressure was 157/90 and I had side effects from prescription drugs. I bought a monitor. After 6 months on Bell #26 I was down to 120/80. Toni L. McCuiston, 52, Elizabethtown, PA ■ At work my driver's medical test was too high at 170/100. After taking Bell #26 for a few days I went down to 128/84 which allowed me to pass my work medical. Kris Geier, 48, Windsor, ON. Bell is helping people everywhere.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air) :

#23

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON Bell is helping people everywhere.

Cholesterol Control

■ Cholesterol and triglycerides under control! For the last 5-6 years I have been told that my cholesterol and triglycerides were out of line. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 my doctor said he was amazed about the change. This is a good product. Jerome Nettles, 51, Monroeville, AL ■ All statin drugs gave me pain! My doctor tried them all on me. So he said to try a natural product. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 I have no more pain. I'm so happy about this. Deanna O'Neil, 63, Tecumseh, ON ■ I had great success with all Bell health products! In the last 2 years I had relief with Bell Prostate Eze Flow Tea, HDL Cholesterol Management, Blood Pressure Combo and Stem Cell Activator. I love your products. They all work for me. Great results. That's all that matters. Basil Richards, 49, S.W. Ranches, FL ■ 20 years of high cholesterol alleviated! I had high cholesterol for 20 years and drugs didn't agree with me. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 for 6 months I had a check-up and was surprised about the big improvement.
